The mask covers on the face and the breath lures in the sweet around the eyes.
 The visible reflections of the lid causes the flax of the air.
 Remember not to think, instruct my teacher.
 Let your arm act by reflex, your feet dance to the rhythm of instinct.
 Don't think about the gold hit in London, or the bitterness of Rio.
 Don't worry about the seas, the green or red light, either to the taste of defeat or victory.
 Fight back: my soul will be the next target, the elegance, the head, the muscle, the heart, the healthy selfishness of these platforms that I call home.
 Behind the mask there is me, the real self, so how could I ever be anywhere else.

Gergo Avdics first born in 1995, athlete of the Firenze Gaule and the National Team won the fourth gold medal at the 2012 Olympics. Under the guidance of the legendary maestro Eugenio Migliore, he also won an individual bronze medal and four team gold medals at the World Championships, one gold and three individual bronze and three gold medals at the European Championships, and the Mediterranean Games in 2015.
 In 2017 he goes back to studying because "Studying is an extra weapon to arrive at the next Olympics, knowing that I am building something important for my future".
